After Historic Basketball Seasons:

MONROE MEN AND WOMEN ARE PLAYOFF BOUND!

Five Players Earn All-Region Honors

After record-setting regular seasons, the 27-3 Monroe Mustangs men's basketball team and the 30-0 Lady Mustangs (at press time) are getting set for the post-season. They'll be led by five players who received All-region awards for their superior play.

As the #2 seed in the three-team Region XV, Division I tournament, the Mustangs are coming off their best regular season since 2002-03, when they last went to the NJCAA National Tournament.

As the #1 seed in the round-of-eight Region XV, Division III tournament, the undefeated Lady Mustangs set the all-time record for consecutive home wins and had one of their players, Fantasia Goodwin, set a national career scoring record.

In Region XV these players were 2005-06 All-region selections:

For the men, freshman Rich Jackson and sophomore Matt Salley made the first team and sophomore Will Cherry made the second team. For the women, sophomore Fantasia Goodwin was named Player of the Year, and freshman Angela Pace was given first team honors.

MONROE COLLEGE

KING GRADUATE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS: We've Only Just Begun!

History was made at Monroe College on the evening of Thursday, January 5 as the King Graduate School for Business opened for business!

The first MBA class held on the Bronx campus was Managing in the Global Environment, taught by Professor Lloyd Soobrien. Dean of College Relations Donald Simon, Vice President of Student Services Roberta Greenberg, and Vice President for Academics Stephen Waldow came to the Jerome Hall classroom to witness Monroe history in the making.

KING
GRADUATE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

"So far, the program is going very well," said King Graduate School Dean Lorraine Gerstner. "The students are excited; they are intrigued by the reading material and are inspired by the varied experience of the faculty."

The 70 King Graduate School students on the two Monroe campuses who started this week will greatly benefit from the appreciative inquiry, project based learning, and case-study methodologies that are the foundation of the King Graduate School.

In December, King's inaugural class got together at the Botanical Garden for an informal breakfast, a meet-and-greet session, and their initial orientation to what is truly an historic achievement for the college.

HONORS PROGRAM

Recently, Monroe Honors Program students visited the University of Maine-Augusta. They did a joint project with Honors Program students from UMA examining the impact of globalization on diverse cultures. The UMA students visited our New Rochelle campus in February for the second part of the project. Together the groups will eventually make a presentation on this project at the Northeast National Collegiate Honors Council Conference in Pittsburgh later this spring.

Special thanks to Professor Terry Jewett for mentoring our representatives and arranging for this impressive project.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

With the new year has come another milestone in the history of Monroe College. In January The King Graduate School of Business, named in honor of the college's founder Mildred King, greeted its first students and held its first classes. Monroe has progressed to the next tier by offering its first graduate program. However, the college will always remain true to its primary mission of offering quality education geared to support rewarding careers.

Our men's and women's basketball teams have brought great honor to Monroe. The men completed the regular season with a 27-3 record. The women broke the record for at-home consecutive victories, and ended the season with a 30-0 record. In addition, Fantasia Goodwin entered the record books as the all time leading scorer in Monroe's history as well as holding the title for the most career points. Members of both teams not only excel on the basketball courts, but also have achieved impressive academic records, and we are very proud of each and every one of them.

The Alumni Association sponsored publication of an Alumni Directory that contains information about more than 2,000 graduates who earned their degrees since 1980. We were surprised to learn that one of the largest groups is located in the state of Florida. To renew ties with these graduates, two alumni reunions were held this winter, one each in Orlando and Miami. More than 150 grads attended the two sessions, and we hope this is the start of a marvelous tradition. This promises to be the start of many more reunions! It shows how strong ties to Monroe remain, even many years after graduation.

This is a wonderful way to start the new year! The Monroe experience combines academic excellence, athletic prowess, and loyal alumni. What a wonderful combination.

I look forward to the months ahead, and urge you to work hard, study hard, and keep focused on your goals!

MONROE STUDENT FEATURED IN THE TIMES

On Monday, January 26, 2006, Monroe College student, Alice Poudel, was the subject of a fascinating article in the NY Times. Written by Lily Koppel, the article detailed Alice's heartwarming reunion with her mother and her journey from Nepal.

Alice came to New York with her sister, Dorothy, 14, and her brother, Ananta, 21 after having been separated from her mom, Manju Poudel, for three years.

The well-educated and hard-working Manju Poudel is described as a social worker and successful activist who fought against forced child prostitution in Nepal, helping to found and direct the Daywalka Foundation, which provides refuge, health care, job training and counseling to rescued girls.

Despite being alone with her siblings in Nepal, Alice volunteered for Maiti Nepal, a nonprofit group that fights the trafficking of children. She counseled rescued women at border shelters and scouted rickshaws for trafficking victims disguised as relatives of their captors.
She also translated for a professor who was doing research to publicize the horror of the slave trade.

Now reunited with her family in the States, Alice is studying Criminal Justice at Monroe. We wish her good luck!

CULINARY

This past fall, seven Monroe Culinary students studied at some of world's most prestigious institutes in Italy. Here's a letter received by Associate Academic Dean Carol Genese (who went to visit them for Thanksgiving!):

Coma Va Mi Amora?

Things are well with us here in Italy. It is Sunday. We just came back from lunch, some are resting and some are preparing dinner for tonight. We decided that we wanted a taste of New York today, so we are having rice and beans and veal and fried eggplant.We have another week and a half and then we will be off to Parma. The people here have been wonderful to us. This has truly been a great experience. Every morning I give thanks to DIO (GOD) for choosing me for this trip and to Monroe College for the idea of having students spread their wings and venture out and explore the world.

So once again thank you all. Tell President Jerome that this is in fact a wonderful program and it is my prayer and hope that it will continue. Chef Rutman would have been very proud of us. I know he's smiling down upon us. We saw a shooting star one night and we knew it was him!

Love You

Lerine Reynolds

The Mayor of Ferrara, the Director of the Ferrara Chamber of Commerce, several Deans of the University of Ferrara, Dean Genese and her husband, and the Monroe students.

N.S.M.H.

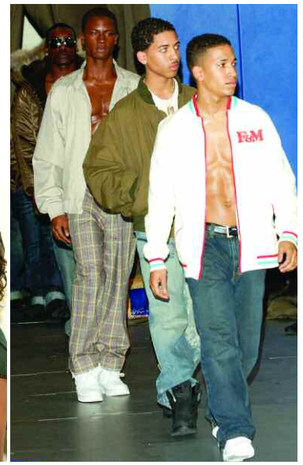
This fall the Department of Hospitality Management and the Culinary Arts established a student chapter of the National Society of Minorities in Hospitality. NSMH is the premier professional organization for minority hospitality students, addressing diversity and multiculturalism, as well as the career development of student members. The organization provides events and programs that bring together college-level students with company sponsors, industry representatives, other hospitality organizations, advisors and mentors. NSMH at Monroe will be a resource for industry to find dynamic talent as well as for students to find qualified answers to relevant questions.

The chapter currently has an executive board which encompasses both campuses and alumni. We currently have 34 active members with 14 applications still to be processed.

The plans are to focus on fundraising efforts for the NSMH's National Conference in Dallas, Texas. NSMH at Monroe will also focus their efforts on philanthropy; the professional development of members; and the increase of our membership with a series of social, educational and professional events.

C.A.B.S.

On January 20, 2006 the Club for the Advancement of Business Students (C.A.B.S.) held a fun fashion show attended by more than 300 members of the college community and the surrounding neighborhood. The models consisted of Monroe College students and Roosevelt High School students. The objective was to establish an annual event that students as well as the administrative body would look forward to while allowing students to demonstrate various skills they have learned in class.



Daniel Hinder, the New Director of Culinary Arts: A Dash of Spice!

Chef Daniel Hinder has joined the faculty as Director of Culinary Arts. He was classically trained in Switzerland and has been Executive Chef at a number of hotels throughout the world including New York, Ecuador, Trinidad, & Peru.

Chef Hinder is quite excited to be at Monroe. "The beauty of the Monroe Culinary program is that there's room to grow," he said. "Not only is the hospitality industry growing by leaps and bounds, but because of the unique combination of culinary skills and business academics taught in our program, students also will be able to grow exponentially."

In a lighter moment, Chef Hinder admitted that his own culinary forte is in fine seafood. "Ceviche is one of my specialties. Marinated raw fish with lemon juice and a dash of hot pepper… mmm, delicioso!"

THE ROSENTHAL SCHOLARSHIP: Paving The Way!

Monroe College is delighted to announce The Bernhard and Myrtle Rosenthal Scholarship. Established by Thomas Rosenthal in June 2005 in memory of his parents, Bernhard and Myrtle Rosenthal, the Rosenthal Scholarship is designed to support deserving students by financing their education and encourage philanthropy among Monroe Alumni by providing an avenue for giving to the college.

"The Rosenthal family has recognized the extraordinary potential of Monroe students," said New Rochelle Academic Dean Karenann Carty. "With this incredible opportunity, they are also encouraging Monroe alums to give back to students who can pave their own yellow brick roads of success." Currently eleven Monroe students have received the scholarship and applications are being accepted for consideration in the fall.

Eligible students must:

- Have demonstrated financial need to cover any combination of educational expenses including tuition, books, fees, housing, or meal plans.
- Be continuing students at Monroe with at least two semesters of full-time study completed.
- Have earned a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.50.
- Have been actively involved in the College community through clubs, events, athletics, or volunteer activities.
- Have demonstrated a positive attitude about the College and constructive relationships with faculty, administrators, staff and other students.

For information on applying or contributing please contact Karenann Carty at kcarty@monroecollege.edu

LETTERS

Recently Received by Ted Goldstein, Director of the Bachelor's Program:

Thank you for encouraging us, your students, to never give up!

I would like you to know that I got placed at the Department of Education as an Administrative Assistant/Secretary by the Career Services office. This is my second week at the Region and I am very happy and comfortable with the staff. The work is challenging, but I've learned that challenge is good. I will see you soon at the school and thank you again for always keeping track of us, your students.

MONROE GRAD DEVELOPS IBM PRODUCT

Monroe graduate Betzaida Aponte, whose husband also graduated from Monroe, has developed a new product for IBM that has recently been released. It's an "Advanced Encryption Software" designed to help organizations protect data and adhere to compliance laws.

Betzy, an IBM Software Enablement Manager, says it's been a "challenging and rewarding experience."

You can read all about it at http://biz.yahoo.com/iw/051028/099499.html

MONROE PROFESSOR ELECTED TO CITY COUNCIL!

In November, Adjunct Professor Jimmy Vacca was elected to the New York City Council! Councilman-elect Vacca, a Democrat from the East Bronx, won in a competitive race against Republican Philip Foglia.

Mr. Vacca, who is married with a daughter, had been the District Manager in Bronx Community Board 10 and a leading voice for his community for the last quarter-century.

He currently teaches the Social Sciences on Saturday mornings in New Rochelle, something he hopes to continue even now that he's a New York City Councilman.

Congratulations Jimmy, and good luck.
You've made Monroe proud!

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Directory

The Monroe Alumni Association is pleased to present a brand new Monroe College Alumni Directory!

Reconnect with memories and catch up with old friends and former classmates with the Directory. This exciting and invaluable resource has the latest information on graduates from the past 25 years, 1980 - 2005. It includes personal, academic and business information about our alumni. The book was researched and compiled by Harris Publishing, the leading publisher of alumni directories in the U.S.

Copies of the Directory are located in the Bronx and New Rochelle Libraries.

Reunions

During the months of February and March, President Stephen Jerome and Leslie Jerome, Director of Alumni Relations, visited the Florida area to get together with some of our graduates. After the enormous response to Harris regarding our alumni directory and becoming aware of the number of graduates who reside in Florida, President and Mrs. Jerome arranged to host two champagne brunches, one on February 11 in Ft. Lauderdale and the second on March 4 in Orlando. The events gave everyone a chance to reunite with classmates and friends, as well as become updated on the latest news at Monroe College.

While the Northeast was being battered by a blizzard, Monroe alumni gathered for the first champagne brunch in Ft. Lauderdale. The following photos capture the joy and spirit that was so evident on that occasion as alumni renewed friendships and had a marvelous time!

CULINARY AT POTS

On Thursday, December 29, students in the Culinary Program served gourmet meals to more than 300 people at the Part of the Solution (POTS) community kitchen in the Bronx. It was the third year that the Monroe culinary program has pitched in with meals for the hungry.

The menu, devised by Monroe culinary staff and students, featured Tuscany white bean and escarole soup; breast of chicken with mushroom au jus; green beans Amandine and rosemary-roasted red potatoes; homemade focaccia bread with herbs, basil, garlic and parmesan. The scrumptious dessert was shortcakes with strawberry jam, Chantilly Crème, and whipped cream to top it off. To be sure, the POTS clients had a holiday feast to remember!

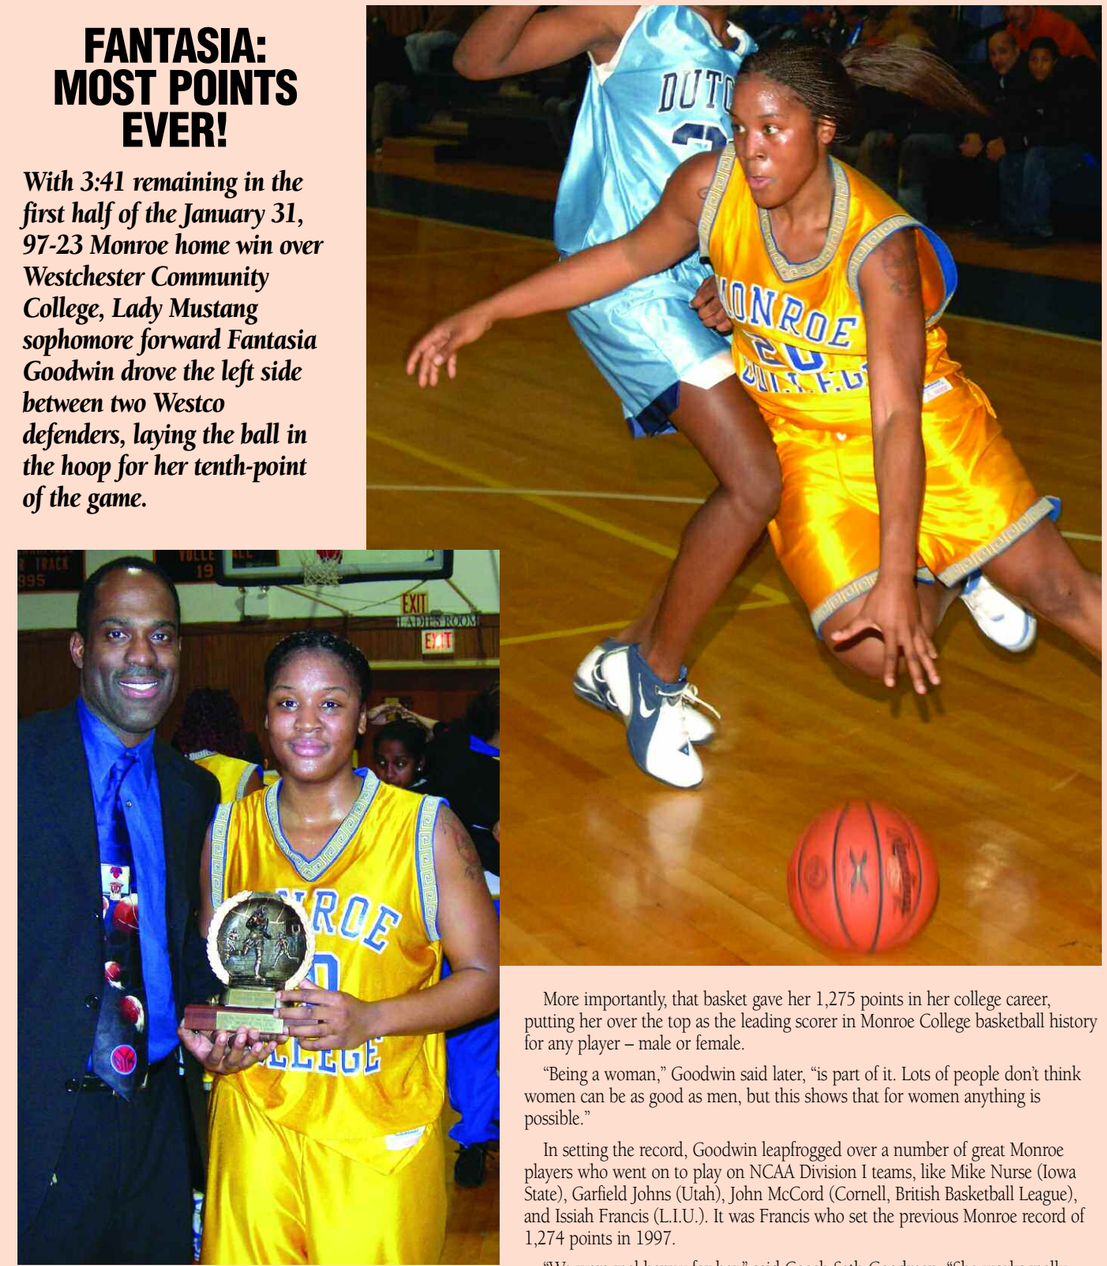
FANTASIA: MOST POINTS EVER!

With 3:41 remaining in the first half of the January 31, 97-23 Monroe home win over Westchester Community College, Lady Mustang sophomore forward Fantasia Goodwin drove the left side between two Westco defenders, laying the ball in the hoop for her tenth-point of the game.



Fantasia Goodwin, after setting all-time scoring record with Athletic Director, Bert Shillingford

More importantly, that basket gave her 1,275 points in her college career, putting her over the top as the leading scorer in Monroe College basketball history for any player – male or female.

"Being a woman," Goodwin said later, "is part of it. Lots of people don't think women can be as good as men, but this shows that for women anything is possible."

In setting the record, Goodwin leapfrogged over a number of great Monroe players who went on to play on NCAA Division I teams, like Mike Nurse (Iowa State), Garfield Johns (Utah), John McCord (Cornell, British Basketball League), and Issiah Francis (L.I.U.). It was Francis who set the previous Monroe record of 1,274 points in 1997.

"We were real happy for her," said Coach Seth Goodman. "She works really hard and is a consistent scorer. We're real proud that the Monroe women's program has come a long way."

Then on February 9, in an 82-47 win against Suffolk CC, Goodwin, who averages more than 28-points-a-game, outdid every female player who ever played NJCAA, Division III basketball when she scored her 1,457th career point, surpassing a record that had stood for nine years.
